with the Bologna Children's Book Fair approaching rapidly it's time for our new spring catalogue.

We had a very successful 2017 – license deal wise – thanks to Peter Wohlleben's first book for young readers for which we sold translation rights for 16 languages so far and look forward to more to come this year. You might like to check whether "your language" is still available. For all of you interested in more non fiction, we offer revised editions of ellermann's most successful "Natur Uhren" ("Nature clocks") which illustrate nature's cycle the year round.

Unicorns are the new dinosaurs.

We have a very special specimen to offer: a pig with a horn. "Emmi und Einschwein" is a debut novel for readers aged 8 and all who love heart warming stories written by Anna Böhm, illustrated by Susanne Göhlich.

For the very young ones we have a board book featuring a Unicorn without a horn ("Das Einhorn ohne Horn vorn") by our success-team Susanne Weber and Tanja Jacobs.

Their board book "Die Eule mit der Beule" sold more than 350.000 copies in Germany.

All seven volumes of Marah Woolf's third great saga "Federleicht" ("FeatherLight") are published this spring; a big chance for all of you who love great reads and hate having to wait for more.

These are only a few examples of our exciting spring program. Have a look, browse through this catalogue and feel free to ask for reading copies.

Katharina and I are looking forward to seeing you in Bologna; Katharina will also be in London.

Best wishes

Renate Reichstein

Woodland Animals
16 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0895-2

Each book is devoted to a different subject: On the Farm, Woodland Animals, At Home and Vehicles. Simple questions prompt the kiddies to seek and find. So even the very youngest can see a squirrel climbing up the tree and a lorry being loaded. With a little luck, they will see many of the scenes from the book all around them when they are out in their buggy.

The colourful board picture books with their well-loved everyday topics are ideal companions for on the road.

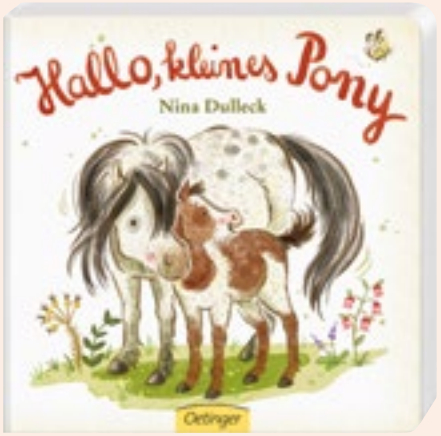
A Kiss For You

16 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0853-2

A great, big smacker for the whole wide world! Enchanting pictures by Annette Swoboda.

How do I kiss a koala bear? Easy-peasy! But to kiss the giraffe, the child has to climb up high into the tree – and it even has to hang upside down from a branch to reach the sloth. And what's the best way to give a sparrow a quick peck? That's simple, on the swing! In the end, of course, the biggest smacker of all is for mummy! With its bright, colourful illustrations by Annette Swoboda, its catchy verses full of fun and surprises and its affectionate kiss alphabet, this book makes a perfect present for tiny tots. A positively kissable picture book!



Nina Dulleck

Hello, Little Pony!

16 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0848-8

A little pony explores the world. The little pony is allowed outside for the very first time and finds that there's plenty to see there. It strays into the vegetable garden, a dog barks at it and then it meets a very friendly bull. But the little pony has the most fun in the meadow with his new friend, the hare.

A touching discovery story for very young pony fans by star illustrator Nina Dulleck

Glow, Little Glow-worm!

12 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0886-0

Because it's too bright for the mole, the glow-worm switches off its light for him, but then he lets it shine again for other animals. That way, the water flea need not feel afraid in the dark and the mouse can find its way back to its mouse hole. When all the animals are happy, the glow-worm meets up with its friends and they all dance merrily in the moonlight. Every picture has a spot to press that makes the glow-worm light up, and there's one to make the moon shine on the last page.

An interactive goodnight book for little light-switch fans with a loveable main character and child-appropriate rhymes.

Clever concept, loveable main character, child-appropriate rhymes

Nowhere's as Cosy to Cuddle as with You

16 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0865-5

A sheep needs some sleep. The little sheep is tired out and looking for a cosy place to get some shut-eye. Then along comes a little mouse, all alone and cold, and asks if he can cuddle up with the sheep. There's nowhere snugger to sleep than with the little sheep, as all the other animals agree. And soon a rabbit, a racoon, a hedgehog and a squirrel also come along in search of a warm place for the night. In the end, all of the animals sleep rolled up together in a cuddly ball.

A delightfully illustrated goodnight book with cuddly-soft fur elements and rhymes to repeat.

Go on, Guess! What Can This Be?

12 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0497-8

Guessing fun with shadows. There's so much to see in the bedroom, in the kitchen, on the farm, on the building site and in the street, and now there's also lots to guess, from the building block tower to the goat on the farm, from the excavator to the zebra crossing. Some are only recognisable as a silhouette. So the idea is to look hard, think and guess, and perhaps you'll be in for a surprise. Because you only get to see exactly what the object is when you open up the flap.

Hiding Easter Eggs is a Big Job

16 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0897-6

Hurray! At last the day has arrived when the little bunny is allowed to hide an Easter egg for the very first time. But where do you hide decorated Easter eggs? The mole is already filling up the molehill, the mouse's hole is no longer free, either, and the bird has built her nest in the bush. By pulling the sliders, the children can join in and help the little bunny with his big Easter job of hiding eggs!

An elaborately produced book with interactive sliders on the cover and on every page

Little Witch Anna Lightning – A Trip on the ABC Train

128 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7707-0016-5

There was candy sugar crackling in the pot and the delicious smells of coffee, cheesecake and a dollop of stewed cherries hung in the air. It's easy to guess that in this part of her journey Anna Lightning learns the letter C. She meets this letter and all the other letters in the alphabet on her exciting journey to Walpurgis Night aboard the ABC train. And before the train arrives at Blocksberg Mountain, Anna Lightning and Zack, her raven, will have had adventures with X, Y, and Z behind them, too.

This ABC read-aloud book is just the thing for young language-game fans of 4 and over. Each of the 26 stories introduces a different letter of the alphabet.

The Nicest Grandpa in the World! / The Nicest Grandma in the World! A MAXI turn-around book

24 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7707-0100-1

In The Nicest Grandpa in the World, Grandfather Hedgehog makes paper planes, Grandpa Bear bakes bilberry cake, and Granddad Mouse gives his grandchild such a big push on his rocking horse that he gallops off around the world. Isn't it lovely that animal children also have such wonderful grandfathers!

And in The Nicest Grandma in the World, Nana Elephant and the elephant child pick a lovely bunch of flowers together, Granny Hamster speeds down the hill with the little hamster, and Granny Mole takes her grandchild on a treasure hunt. No wonder children all love their grandmothers!

Susanne Lütje / Eleni Livanios

The Nicest Dad in the World! / The Nicest Mummy in the World! A MAXI turn-around book

24 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7707-0103-2

In The Nicest Dad in the World, the little bear's daddy gives him bread and honey, the little hare plays hide and seek with Daddy Hare, and Father Dog carries his little puppy home on his back when he is too tired to walk any further. And the human daddy tucks his child into bed and sings him a lullaby until he falls asleep.

In The Nicest Mummy in the World, we want to find out whose mummy is the nicest in the world. Is it the squirrel whose mummy rocks him in her arms? Or the polar bear whose mummy makes him hot tea? Or perhaps the little fox whose mummy kisses away the pain when he hurts himself? In the end, one thing is clear: every child has the nicest mummy in the world!

Beaver has a Fever / Lobster is a Sobster – A MAXI turn-around book

"Oh no," groans the beaver. "I think I have a fever!" Straight away, all his friends want to help him. The ferret sends him to bed, the snail gives him a blanket, the rabbit provides a cold compress and they all get together to cook him hot soup! How could the beaver fail to get better now!

And who will help the little lobster? "Boohoo," sobs the lobster. "I am so miserable." The other animals are worried about their friend and try to comfort the little lobster and cheer him up. The plaice gives him a great big hug, the mussels snuggle up to him, and the starfish puts its arms around him. But none of this is enough to make him feel better. Then the seahorse swims up to her darling lobster, and now he's happy again.

Susanne Weber / Tanja Jacobs

What did the Little Fox Hear? / The Mouse with the Louse – A MAXI turn-around book

24 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7707-0105-6

"Oh no," says the mouse. "I think I've got a louse." However will the mouse get rid of it? The lamb, the rat, the bear and the cat all want to help, but neither combing nor scratching does the trick. What a good thing that at some point the little louse has simply had enough and decides to leave, and says thanks and goodbye, waving as its goes.

What did the little fox hear? Was that the owl? Or the cockerel? Or perhaps the piglet? No – they all make very different sounds. But then the little fox discovers where the sound is coming from: from his mummy, of course!

A Case for Three. The Museum Thief

64 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0842-6

Read the story and help to solve the mystery! There's been a break-in at the museum. The odd thing is that although nothing has been stolen, one painting has somehow become two overnight. The original was taken down and is now leaning against the wall – twice! Which of the two pictures is the original, which the forgery? At first glance, the pictures seem identical. But inspecting them closely, the three detectives Carlo, Semra and Ben discover tiny differences. Will they track down the culprit?

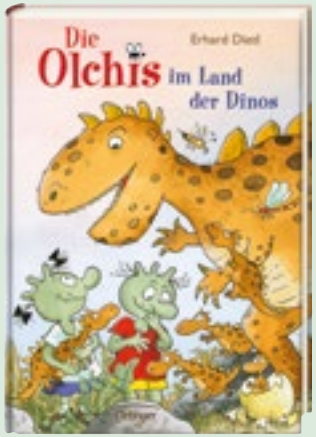
The Ogglies. Oggly-Grandpa's Toadiest Adventure

64 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0841-9

Off to bed! It's nighttime, but the Oggly children are still wide awake. Not even Oggly- Mummy's lullaby settles them down. So Oggly-Grandpa starts to spin them a toady Oggly yarn all about the days when he was a deep-sea Oggly diver, an Oggly astronaut up in space and an Oggly sailor on the high seas. And he tells them about his legendary long-sleeper record. Now that's a record the Oggly children naturally want to beat!



Erhard Dietl

The Ogglies in Dinosaur Land

112 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0899-0

Professor Fizzywine has built a time machine! And it catapults the Oggly children straight back to prehistoric times. Who do they meet there but a small dinosaur who's looking for his mummy? Obviously, the Ogglies help him in his search! Very soon they realise that life in prehistoric times is pretty dangerous. Not only are there some sinister lizards after the baby dinosaur, but a ravenous T-rex, too. Will the Ogglies be able to get the baby to safety before Fizzywine fetches them back to Smelliville?

A new series, a new age group, closing the gap between picture book and children's book

Emmi and Unipig. Anyone can be a Unicorn!

208 Pages | ISBN 978-3-7891-0889-1

In Pixietown, every child gets a fabulous creature for their tenth birthday. Emmi's big day is just around the corner and she is quite sure her creature will be a unicorn, a graceful, delicate unicorn. But when the day arrives, what does she see trotting towards her through the magical mist? A unipig! Emmi cannot imagine a fabulous creature less magical than this plump pink dumpling.

As luck would have it, half the school already knows that Emmi wanted a unicorn, so a unipig is of course quite simply the last thing in the world she needs just now. But Emmi doesn't yet know quite how unique the unipig is!

The gods' coolest agent of all time is back! Henry is happy to be at school again. Life is so beautifully boring far away from all the gods and dwarves! But then Hilda turns up out of the blue in his classroom. This can only mean one thing: the god boss is summoning him for another mission. There's no way he can talk himself out of it and so Henry soon finds himself on board a flight to Paris. Apparently, a certain D'Artagnan has reported dwarf activities there. D'Artagnan? Isn't he one of the Musketeers? What does he have to do with the Nibelungs' gold? Henry suspects this is all the boredom he's going to be getting for some time. Instead, there's plenty of action in store for him in the Catacombs of Paris.

FeatherLight. Like Falling Snow (First Book)

310 Pages

ISBN 978-3-8415-0528-6

Eliza normally only has adventures in front of the television with her friend Sky and a bag of crisps. But then she stumbles across a portal in the wood and now, amazingly, she has been chosen to retrieve a magic snow globe for the elves. But Eliza doesn't see anything magical in the elves, instead they seem conceited and awkward to her (one of them in particular). But now that her world has already been turned upside down, Eliza is not going to let herself be beaten – and most definitely not by an elf.

Marah Woolf

FeatherLight. Like the Murmur of Time (Second Book)

316 Pages

ISBN 978-3-8415-0529-3

Madly in love with Elfworld! Eliza is torn. What do these elves want? First they lure her into their world and are not particularly nice to her when she gets there, and once she has retrieved their snow globe for them, they think they can just shut her out of Elfworld forever? If Eliza is honest, she misses Cassian terribly. But then Eliza receives a message saying that Leylin is once again in grave danger, and she decides to rush to Elfworld's aid once more.

Following the popular series BookLess and DivineSpark, this is the third exciting saga by Marah Woolf.

Marah Woolf

FeatherLight.
Like the Sound of Silence
(Third Book)

372 Pages
ISBN 978-3-8415-0531-6

Between worlds, crossed hearts. Eliza is determined to going back to leading a normal life and forgetting all about Cassian. After all, she's pretty sure he's not shedding any tears over her. When her father unexpectedly returns from a dig and a mysterious casket comes into Eliza's possession, she becomes mixed up in another dark adventure. And suddenly she needs Cassian's help. Will he be able to save her?

Marah Woolf

FeatherLight.
Like Shadows in the Light
(Fourth Book)

310 Pages
ISBN 978-3-8415-0532-3

A prisoner in Elfworld! Eliza has started university in Stirling. When her friends Sky and Frazer come on a visit, they persuade her to accept an invitation from the Elf Queen to the Saimhain Festival. Despite all her good intentions to avoid Cassian, Eliza gives in and soon the friends find themselves with Cassian in a house where are strange goings-on. Eliza appears to be the only one able to recall her real life, and she and her friends have to make great sacrifices to find their way back again.

Marah Woolf

FeatherLight.
Like Mist on the Wind
(Fifth Book)

368 Pages
ISBN 978-3-8415-0533-0

A love with no future. Eliza is devastated: Grace is dead and Cassian can only regain his sight if he marries Opal. Eliza is faced with the task of carrying the seal of the Beliozar to safety, but the magicians are growing more and more powerful. Eliza has no choice but to rely on help from her friends and in the end she discovers why she, of all people, has a connection with the world of magic.

Marah Woolf

FeatherLight.
Like a Fairy's Kiss
(Sixth Book)

310 Pages
ISBN 978-3-8415-0534-7

The magical world is in grave danger! Cassian and Eliza are banished and Damian de Winter is seizing power. It's only a question of time now until the two missing seals fall into his hands. Eliza knows that she is in great danger. Then a message arrives for her from Elisian, the Elf Queen, and the friends must decide how much they are willing to risk to save the magical world.

Marah Woolf

FeatherLight.
Like a Spark of Happiness
(Seventh Book)

300 Pages
ISBN 978-3-8415-0535-4

The final battle for the magical world and love! A return to Leylin is out of the question for Eliza and Cassian. However, the longer the battle continues, the more frequently Eliza asks herself what will become of the love between Cassian and herself if they cannot turn the tide of battle in their favour.
